

Lori Sywassink

Accounting Specialist

Lori Sywassink is an accounting specialist at the Stanley Center for Peace and Security where she is responsible for providing accounting and administrative services in support of the center's mission. Prior to joining the organization, she spent more than 20 years in various accounting roles at HNI—the global company begun by the Stanley Center's founder. Sywassink has a degree in business management with accounting management emphasis from Eastern Iowa Community College.