

Erica Mack

Operations Assistant

Erica Mack is operations assistant at the Stanley Center for Peace and Security, providing administrative and operational support across organizational processes, records, documentation, scheduling, and cross-functional coordination. Mack brings a multidisciplinary background in civil engineering, sustainable building design, climate communications, research, and project coordination.

Before joining the Stanley Center, she worked in sustainability consulting, engineering project delivery, nonprofit communications, and graduate-level instruction. Mack has an MS in architecture and sustainable design from the University of Minnesota and a BS in civil engineering from Iowa State University.
